

PROF. PhD. Angelica M.BAYLON,

Maritime Academy of Asia and the Pacific (MAAP), KamayaPt., Mariveles, Bataan, PHILIPPINES

<https://orcid.org/0000-0001-8330-2415>

ambaylon@maap.edu.ph

Scientific Title: Prof. PhD Educational Administration (scholar with High Distinction).

Studies: four Master's and two Ph.D. degrees, all earned with distinctions and grants (BS Chemistry (Cum Laude, FEU; MS Chem, Department of Science and Technology -PCSTRD and NRCP Scholar from the University of Santos Tomas, Philippines; MBA major in Management (scholar with Highest Distinction); MSBM (Master in Shipping Business Management)MBGPH, AUSN).

Professional experience: Her teaching are in the field of Chemistry, Mathematics, Physics, Educational Administration, Shipping Business Management, Bioethics, Global Public Health, and Sustainability. Formerly a pioneer Executive Maritime Dean, Research & Extension Services Director, currently she is MAAP External Relations Director.

Key points of interest in research: Recognized in the Philippines as one of the scientific experts, she is in the Philippine Men and Women of Science <http://www.science.ph/program/PMSVol27dec2013.pdf> and in the Specialized Philippine reference for experts and scientists <http://spheres.dost.gov.ph/sci-profile.php?i=001647>. A member of the National Research Council of the Philippines (NRCP), she accomplished two funded projects that largely contributed to the adoption of significant policies for the shipping industry in the Philippines.